A GENTLE GUIDE

30-Day Life Reset Workbook

Small shifts. Real momentum.
Your reset starts here.

FIRST EDITION · 2026

COLOPHON

A note before you begin.

This workbook is yours. Write in it, fold the pages, skip what doesn't fit, return when it does. It was designed with one belief: that change happens through small, repeated actions — not heroic effort.

Nothing here will fix you, because you aren't broken. The next thirty days are simply a quiet invitation to come back to yourself — at your pace, on your terms.

Sixty-six pages · One step at a time.

Small shifts.
Real momentum.
Your reset starts here.

You picked this up because something feels off. Maybe you've been going through the motions, carrying more than you should, or quietly wishing things were different. That feeling is real — and it makes sense.

This workbook isn't here to fix you. You're not broken. It's here to give you a small, steady path back to yourself.

Over the next 30 days, you'll take one focused step each day. Nothing dramatic. Nothing that requires you to overhaul your life overnight. Just small, concrete actions that build on each other — one at a time, at your pace.

Some days will feel easy. Some won't. Both are fine. You don't need to be motivated every day — you just need to show up when you can.

Let's begin.

Why you feel stuck.

Feeling stuck isn't a personality flaw. It's what happens when you've been in survival mode long enough that forward motion starts to feel impossible.

When life gets full — work, responsibilities, relationships, all of it at once — your brain shifts its energy toward managing, not growing. You stay in the loop of what's urgent and never quite get to what matters.

The result? Days that blur together. A vague sense that you should be doing more, feeling more, being more. And a creeping exhaustion that has nothing to do with sleep.

Here's what actually helps: not a bigger plan, but a smaller one. Not more willpower, but better structure. Not a dramatic reset, but a gentle one.

That's what the next 30 days are designed to give you.

How to use this workbook.

Each day has its own page. You'll find six small sections, each designed to take only a few minutes.

A DAILY GOAL	One clear intention for the day.
THREE TASKS	Each one takes ten minutes or less.
A QUICK WIN	Something you can do in 1–2 minutes to build momentum.
WHY IT WORKS	One sentence on the science behind the action.
A REFLECTION PROMPT	A single question to help you process the day.
A MOOD CHECK	Just circle how you're feeling: 😊 / 😐 / 😔
TOMORROW FOCUS	A one-line preview to prime your next day.

You don't need to complete every item every day. Do what you can. Come back to what you missed when you're ready. This workbook is flexible by design.

One rule: don't skip the reflection. Even one sentence counts. Writing is how this becomes yours.

Quick start.

If you want to begin right now — here's your starting point.

01 Flip to Day 1.

Read the goal and tasks. That's it for now.

02 Pick just one task.

Do it today. One is enough.

03 Before bed, answer the reflection.

Even a few words count.

You've started. That's the whole win for Day 1.

Don't read ahead. Don't plan the full 30 days. Trust the structure — it was built with your pace in mind.

See you on Day 1.

The 4-week structure.

Here's what the next 30 days will look like at a glance. Each week builds on the last — gently, on purpose.

WEEK 1

I

Foundation

DAYS 1–7

Energy & Awareness — light on purpose. You're here to notice, not to do.

WEEK 2

II

Momentum

DAYS 8–14

Habits & Productivity — one small morning habit, gently built.

WEEK 3

III

Growth

DAYS 15–21

Body, Mind, Environment — the work goes a little deeper now.

WEEK 4

IV

Integration

DAYS 22–30

Identity, Values, Future — making sense of what you've built.

Each week builds on the last. Week 1 is light on purpose — it's about noticing, not doing. By Week 4, you'll have enough quiet momentum that the bigger questions feel approachable rather than overwhelming.

Take it one week at a time. You don't need to see the whole staircase — just the next step.

Life audit.

Where are you right now? Rate each area from 1 to 5. There are no right answers — just honest ones.

LIFE AREA	YOUR RATING · 1–5	ONE WORD THAT DESCRIBES IT
Energy & Sleep	1 2 3 4 5
Work / Purpose	1 2 3 4 5
Relationships	1 2 3 4 5
Body & Movement	1 2 3 4 5
Home & Space	1 2 3 4 5
Mind & Stress	1 2 3 4 5
Fun & Rest	1 2 3 4 5
Finances	1 2 3 4 5

LOWEST TWO AREAS — 01 _____

LOWEST TWO AREAS — 02 _____

HIGHEST AREA · WHAT'S WORKING _____

ONE THING YOU'VE BEEN AVOIDING _____

You don't need to fix everything at once. This audit just helps you know where you're starting from — not where you should be.

SETUP · 02

Your 90-day picture.

If things shift over the next 90 days, what changes? This isn't a goal list. It's a soft picture — a direction, not a destination.

IN 90 DAYS, I'D LIKE TO FEEL

○ Calmer ○ More rested ○ Clearer ○ More connected ○ Lighter ○ Stronger ○ More like myself

MORE OF _____

LESS OF _____

IF A FRIEND DESCRIBED MY LIFE IN 90 DAYS, WHAT WOULD I WANT THEM TO SAY?

_____

_____

_____

You don't have to know exactly how to get there. That's what the next 30 days are for.

Your 30-day focus.

This month, focus on one thing. Look back at your Life Audit — which area would make the biggest difference if it shifted, even slightly?

MY 30-DAY FOCUS AREA

START DOING — SMALL

STOP DOING — OR DO LESS

KEEP DOING — IT'S WORKING

TIME OF DAY THAT WORKS FOR ME

Morning Midday Evening

MY PERSONAL 30-DAY INTENTION — ONE SENTENCE, YOUR WORDS

Your intention doesn't have to be inspiring. It just has to be honest.

SETUP · 04

Your personal reset rules.

Three soft rules that make this work for you. Not rigid commitments — agreements you make with yourself, flexible by design.

I WILL TRY TO SHOW UP

○ Every day ○ Most days ○ Whenever I can

IF I MISS A DAY, I WILL _____

WHO KNOWS I'M DOING THIS _____

ONE THING I'M ALLOWING MYSELF TO SKIP _____

> Missing days is part of the process. What you do after a missed day matters more than the day you missed.

You're set up.

Turn to Day 1.

WEEK I OF IV

I

Foundation

Energy & Awareness

DAYS 1 — 7

This week is light on purpose. You're not here to overhaul your routine or set big goals. You're here to notice — how you feel, what's draining you, and where there might be a little more room to breathe.

DAY · 01 OF 30

Check In With Yourself

01

FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL Notice how you actually feel right now — without trying to fix anything.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Set a 5-minute timer and sit quietly without your phone. Notice thoughts and body tension.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Write 3 words that describe how you've been feeling lately. No editing — just what's true.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Write one word for how you want to feel by the end of these 30 days. Put it somewhere visible.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Take 3 slow breaths before you do anything else today.

WHY IT WORKS

Naming emotions reduces their intensity — a well-documented effect called affect labeling.

REFLECTION

What's one thing you've been carrying lately that you haven't said out loud to anyone?

MOOD CHECK

😊 GOOD 😐 OKAY 😔 HARD

TOMORROW notice how you wake up and how you feel in the first 10 minutes.

DAY · 02 OF 30

Your Morning Signal

02

FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice what your mornings feel like before you change anything about them.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

When you wake up tomorrow notice the very first thought in your head. Write it down before anything else.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write down the first thing you typically do each morning and honestly note how it makes you feel.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Close your eyes and picture tomorrow morning going well. Write one word for how you want it to feel.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Set your phone across the room tonight so tomorrow's start is a little calmer.

WHY IT WORKS

Morning routines activate the brain's planning circuits making the rest of the day feel more manageable.

REFLECTION

What does a good morning feel like to you? What would need to be true for that to happen more often?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll notice one small thing that's been quietly draining your energy.

DAY · 03 OF 30

One Good Thing

03
FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL Find evidence that things aren't entirely wrong — even if the evidence is small.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Write down 3 things that went okay today. They don't have to be good — just okay is enough.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Think of one person who makes you feel steadier. Write one sentence about what it is about them.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Look around the space you're in right now and find one thing you actually like about it.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Name one thing that made you smile this week even briefly. Write it down.

WHY IT WORKS

Noticing small positives rewires attention patterns over time — a core principle in behavioral science.

REFLECTION

What's one small thing that's been going right lately that you haven't given yourself credit for?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW one corner one drawer one surface.

DAY · 04 OF 30

Clear One Space

04

FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Create one small area that feels calm and a little more like yours.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Look around your space right now. Write one sentence about how the order or clutter makes you feel.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Put back only what belongs there. Everything else goes in a drawer a box or the bin.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Spend 2 minutes in that cleared space. Sit or stand there. Just notice how it feels different.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Wipe the surface down with a cloth. A clean space signals calm to your brain immediately.

WHY IT WORKS

Visual clutter competes for attention — removing it lowers background stress without any other effort.

REFLECTION

Is there a space in your home that makes you feel tired just looking at it? What could you remove?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW no changes yet just noticing.

DAY · 05 OF 30

Your Energy Map

05
FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice when your energy rises and falls so you can work with it instead of against it.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

At three points today — morning afternoon evening — pause and rate your energy 1–5. Write the numbers.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Look at what you wrote. When do you feel sharpest? When do you fade? Write one sentence about the pattern.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one sentence about when you feel most drained during the day and what usually seems to trigger it.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Drink a glass of water right now. Mild dehydration is one of the most common hidden energy drains.

WHY IT WORKS

Matching tasks to natural energy rhythms increases focus without requiring more willpower.

REFLECTION

What do you usually do during your lowest-energy hour of the day? Is that working for you?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

not fixing it yet just getting an honest picture of what's happening.

DAY · 06 OF 30

Your Sleep Reality

06

FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Get an honest picture of your sleep this week without judgment.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write down your typical bedtime wake time and how rested you feel most mornings on a scale of 1–5.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Name one thing that regularly cuts into your sleep — screen time stress late eating noise. Just name it.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one sentence about how your current sleep quality affects how you feel and relate to people.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Turn on Do Not Disturb before you go to sleep tonight.

WHY IT WORKS

Sleep quality affects mood focus and appetite regulation more than almost any other single factor.

REFLECTION

What would feel different in your daily life if you were consistently more rested?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll look back at what you noticed and name one thing that already shifted.

DAY · 07 OF 30

Week 1 Wrap

07
FOUNDATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Acknowledge what you've noticed this week and name one small thing that's already different.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Flip back through Days 1–6. Read what you wrote. Don't analyze — just notice what stands out.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write one thing you noticed about yourself this week that surprised you or just felt true.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one thing you want to carry into Week 2 — a habit a thought or a small action that helped.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Put a mark or star on today's date somewhere visible — a sticky note journal or calendar.

WHY IT WORKS

Reflection consolidates learning. Reviewing what worked makes the behavior more likely to continue.

REFLECTION

What's one thing you did this week however small that you're glad you did?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

Week 2 starts: it's about momentum. Small habits gently built one at a time.

CHECKPOINT

Week I — Foundation.

Take 10 minutes. Answer honestly. There are no wrong answers here.

WHAT WORKED THIS WEEK

WHAT FELT HEAVY OR HARD

MY ONE WIN THIS WEEK

○ Small ○ Medium

○ Bigger than expected

MOOD ACROSS THIS WEEK

😊 Mostly good 😐 Mostly okay

😩 Mostly hard All over the place

ONE WORD FOR WEEK 1

ONE WORD FOR WHAT COMES NEXT

If you missed days, skipped tasks, or didn't fill in every page — that's fine. This isn't a test with a score. It's a reset. Resets are allowed to be imperfect. You're still in.

WEEK II OF IV

II

Momentum

Habits & Productivity

DAYS 8—14

Last week was about noticing. This week is about starting — carefully and without pressure. You'll build one morning habit. One. The proof that you can choose a small behavior and stick with it matters more than the habit itself.

DAY · 08 OF 30

Coming Back

08

MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Return to the workbook without guilt — whether you missed one day or several.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Read back over your Day 7 wrap. Remind yourself what you noticed. One minute no pressure.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Pick one task from any day you missed. Just one. Do that one thing today.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one honest sentence about what the last few days looked like. Just a note nothing more.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Refill your water and sit down for 2 quiet minutes before you do anything else today.

WHY IT WORKS

Returning after a gap without self-judgment is itself a skill — and one of the most valuable ones.

REFLECTION

What made it hard to show up? Not to judge it — just to understand it.

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW and whether that's by choice.

DAY · 09 OF 30

Where Your Attention Goes

09
MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice what you're spending time and attention on — without changing anything yet.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN
Pause and notice how your attention felt today. Scattered pulled around or mostly steady? Write one word.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN
Think about your last evening. What did you do for most of it? Write it down honestly.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN
Make two lists: what you gave attention to today and what you wish you'd given more attention to.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Put your phone face-down for the next 15 minutes. Just notice what that feels like.

WHY IT WORKS

Awareness of attention patterns is the first step to shifting them — without data any change is guesswork.

REFLECTION

If a log showed everything you did this week would it match what you say matters to you?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW is Day 10. You've made it nearly a third of the way through. That's worth pausing for.

DAY · 10 OF 30

Ten Days In

10

MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Pause and acknowledge that ten days of showing up is genuinely significant.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Go back to your Life Audit from the Setup Pages. Rate the same areas again. Notice any shifts.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write one thing that feels even slightly easier or clearer than it did on Day 1. One thing is enough.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write what you want Week 2 to focus on for you. Keep it to one area — morning routine sleep or focus.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Say out loud or write: Ten days. I'm doing this. Mean it.

WHY IT WORKS

Mid-point reflection creates a psychological marker that increases follow-through in the second half.

REFLECTION

What would you tell someone else who was at Day 10 and quietly doubting themselves?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll choose and start one morning habit. Small specific and entirely yours.

DAY · 11 OF 30

One Morning Habit

11

MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL Choose one morning habit and start it today — no elaborate routine just one thing.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Choose your habit: drink water before coffee · 5 deep breaths after waking · write 3 lines in a notebook.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Write it down: My morning habit this week is ___. Put it somewhere you'll see it when you wake up.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Do your habit right now or set a specific time tomorrow when you will. Commit to the time not the idea.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Set a phone reminder 10 minutes after your usual wake time. Label it with your habit name.

WHY IT WORKS

Attaching a new behavior to a fixed morning window builds consistency faster than waiting to feel motivated.

REFLECTION

Why this habit? What do you hope it quietly gives you over time?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW making it much harder to forget.

DAY · 12 OF 30

Stack It

12

MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Lock in your morning habit by pairing it with something you already do automatically.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Name your most automatic morning behavior — brewing coffee brushing teeth opening curtains. Write it down.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write your habit stack: "After I [existing behavior] I will [new habit]." This is your cue.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Do the full stack this morning. Existing behavior then new habit. Back to back. Write one word about it.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Write the stack on a sticky note and place it where the cue happens — by the kettle sink or bedside.

WHY IT WORKS

Habit stacking uses existing neural pathways as triggers cutting the effort needed to start a new behavior.

REFLECTION

What's one habit you already have that you never think about? What made it automatic over time?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW without pressure on the result.

DAY · 13 OF 30

Honest Check-In

13
MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Assess how your morning habit is going — honestly without judging whatever the answer is.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Rate how consistently you did your morning habit this week from 1–5. Write the number and one reason.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write what got in the way if anything — time energy forgetting resistance. Just name it clearly.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Adjust if needed. Simpler version? Different timing? Different habit? Write the updated version now.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Do your morning habit right now even if it's the afternoon. Timing matters less than keeping it going.

WHY IT WORKS

Flexible consistency — adapting without quitting — builds habits more reliably than all-or-nothing thinking.

REFLECTION

What's the difference between a habit that's hard and a habit that's simply wrong for you right now?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll note what shifted and decide what to carry into Week 3.

DAY · 14 OF 30

Week 2 Wrap

14
MOMENTUM

TODAY'S GOAL

Acknowledge the habit work you did this week and decide what's worth carrying forward.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write a short summary of Week 2. What did you try? What stuck? What didn't? Three to five sentences.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Decide: keep your morning habit into Week 3 adjust it or replace it with something that fits better.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one thing this week taught you about how you actually work — not about habits but about yourself.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Mark Day 14 on your tracker or calendar. Two weeks done.

WHY IT WORKS

Turning experience into a brief written summary helps the brain store it as a lesson rather than an event.

REFLECTION

What made this week harder than Week 1? What made it more meaningful?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

Week 3 starts tomorrow — body mind and environment. It's a noticeable shift. You're ready for it.

CHECKPOINT

Week II — Momentum.

Take 10 minutes. Answer honestly. There are no wrong answers here.

WHAT WORKED THIS WEEK

WHAT FELT HEAVY OR HARD

MY ONE WIN THIS WEEK

○ Small ○ Medium

○ Bigger than expected

MOOD ACROSS THIS WEEK

😊 Mostly good 😐 Mostly okay

😩 Mostly hard All over the place

ONE WORD FOR WEEK 2

ONE WORD FOR WHAT COMES NEXT

Week 2 is where the newness wears off and the real test begins. The habit you're building isn't the morning routine. It's the habit of returning. You returned. That's the one that matters.

WEEK III OF IV

III

Growth

Body, Mind, Environment

DAYS 15—21

Week 3 is where you start to feel the difference — not dramatically, but in small ways. A little more ease. A little less friction. A quieter mind at the end of the day. This week adds movement: short, simple, not about fitness.

DAY · 15 OF 30

Coming Back Again

15
GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL

Return to the work without making a story out of the gap — or the time away.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Don't scroll back to calculate what you missed. Open to today start here and go forward from now.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write one sentence about where you are right now — energy mood headspace. Just the honest current state.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Do your morning habit from Week 2 or your adjusted version. One familiar action to re-anchor.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Make yourself something warm to drink. Sit with it for 2 minutes. You're back.

WHY IT WORKS

Re-entry without self-criticism is a learnable skill. The brain returns more easily when the cost is low.

REFLECTION

What made Week 3 harder to start than Week 1 or 2? What got in the way?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW 10 minutes nothing intense. Just your body briefly awake.

DAY · 16 OF 30

Move for 10 Minutes

16
GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL

Add one short daily movement — not for fitness just to feel more present in your body.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN
Walk outside for 10 minutes. No podcast no phone. Just walk slowly and look at what's around you.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN
When you're done write one word for how your body felt before the walk and one word for after.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN
Choose a specific time tomorrow you'll repeat this. Write it: Tomorrow at [time] I'll walk 10 minutes.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Stand up and stretch for 60 seconds right now. Any stretch. Just move something.

WHY IT WORKS

Brief movement raises mood-regulating neurotransmitters and reduces tension faster than almost any habit.

REFLECTION

When was the last time you moved your body without it being for a specific outcome or goal?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW is the halfway point. You'll pause and take stock of how far you've actually come.

DAY · 17 OF 30

Halfway There

17
GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL Mark the halfway point and let yourself genuinely feel what that means.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN
Write three things that are different from Day 1 — in how you feel think or act. Small differences count.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN
Go back to your 30-day intention from the Setup Pages. Read it. Write one word about how it lands now.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN
Write what you want the second half to feel like. Not a goal — just a feeling. One word or sentence.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN
Take a photo of today's date or write it somewhere. Halfway done is a real thing worth noting.

WHY IT WORKS
Naming progress at a milestone increases follow-through — the brain treats acknowledged effort as worth protecting.

REFLECTION

What's one thing you've quietly let go of in the last 17 days even just a little?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW the kind you can't see but definitely feel.

DAY · 18 OF 30

Clear Your Head

18

GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL

Reduce one source of mental clutter that's been running in the background without you choosing it.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Brain dump for 5 minutes — everything in your head right now. Worries tasks loops random thoughts. All out.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Read what you wrote. Circle one item that's actually within your control right now. Just one.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Take one small action on it — a reply a note a decision one concrete step. Keep it under 2 minutes.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Close 5 browser tabs or app windows you haven't touched in days. Small clears add up quickly.

WHY IT WORKS

Writing down mental load frees working memory and makes problems feel more contained and manageable.

REFLECTION

What thought has been on repeat for you lately that you haven't actually addressed or resolved?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW a deeper clear than what you did in Week 1.

DAY · 19 OF 30

Your Environment Continued

GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL Improve one more corner of your physical space — building on the clear you did in Week 1.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Choose a different space from Day 4 — a drawer shelf car bag or closet section. Set a 7-minute timer.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Clear it out. Keep only what belongs works or you actually use. Bin donate or relocate the rest.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Take a photo of the cleared space. Look at it when you feel overwhelmed this week.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Empty one thing right now — a bag a pocket a small tray. 60 seconds flat.

WHY IT WORKS

Physical order measurably lowers cortisol — your nervous system responds directly to what your eyes take in.

REFLECTION

Which area of your life feels most cluttered right now — physical space your mind or your relationships?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll take one step toward something you've been quietly putting off.

DAY · 20 OF 30

The Thing You've Been Avoiding

20

GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL

Get curious about one thing you've been circling around — without any pressure to start it today.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write down the thing you've been avoiding. Don't plan it or judge it — just name it clearly on paper.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write one honest sentence about why this thing has been waiting. What have you been telling yourself?

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write what it would feel like to have simply started it — not finished it just started. Notice what comes up.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Write: "The thing I've been circling is ___." Naming it clearly is itself a small act of honesty.

WHY IT WORKS

Understanding why we avoid something is often more useful than forcing a start before we're ready.

REFLECTION

What's one small thing that would need to be true before starting this felt manageable to you?

DAY · 21 OF 30

Week 3 Wrap

21

GROWTH

TODAY'S GOAL

Take stock of what Week 3 built — in habits headspace and your sense of what's possible from here.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

List the habit areas you've tried in the last three weeks — morning routine movement mental clarity.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write one honest sentence about how you've shown up this month — the moments you're glad about.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Look ahead to Week 4. Write one question you want it to help you answer about your life.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Mark Day 21 on your tracker. Three weeks done. One left.

WHY IT WORKS

Shifting from reviewing behavior to examining identity is how temporary habits become lasting character.

REFLECTION

What would you need to believe about yourself to keep going after this workbook ends?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

Week 4 is the final stretch — identity values and a life you want to return to. It starts tomorrow.

CHECKPOINT

Week III — Growth.

Take 10 minutes. Answer honestly. There are no wrong answers here.

ONE WORD FOR WEEK 3

ONE WORD FOR WHAT COMES NEXT

Three weeks in. You may be tired. That's real. Tired doesn't mean failing — it means you've been doing the work. Week 4 is slower on purpose.

WEEK IV OF IV

IV

Integration

Identity, Values, Future

DAYS 22—30

Week 4 isn't about adding more. It's about making sense of what's already here — who you've been, what you actually value, and who you want to keep becoming. The tasks get quieter. The questions get bigger. That's intentional.

DAY · 22 OF 30

Coming Back — Final Time

22

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Return to this last week cleanly — whatever the gap whatever happened in between.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write today's date and one word for how you're showing up right now. That's your entry point.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Read your Day 21 wrap. Find the question you wrote for Week 4. Read it once and let it settle.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Do your morning habit — just the one. Re-anchor with something familiar before this final week begins.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Take 3 slow breaths. You're in the last stretch.

WHY IT WORKS

Intentional re-entry signals that what follows matters creating the attention to finish well.

REFLECTION

What would make this final week feel complete even if it doesn't go perfectly?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW not what should but what genuinely does.

DAY · 23 OF 30

Your Values

23

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Name two or three things that genuinely matter to you — not aspirationally but actually true right now.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Write a fast list of 10 things you care about. No editing — whatever surfaces first. Two minutes.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Circle the two or three that feel most true right now. Not most impressive. Most honest.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   For each circled value finish the sentence: This matters to me because ___. One sentence each.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Read your circled values out loud. Notice if any of them surprise you.

WHY IT WORKS

Named values act as a decision filter — they make future choices feel clearer and less draining over time.

REFLECTION

Where in your current daily life do your actions most reflect what you actually value?

_____

_____

_____

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll connect those values to the life you've been quietly building this month.

DAY · 24 OF 30

The Life You're Building

24

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Connect the small things you've been doing to a larger picture of the life you actually want.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Look at your values from yesterday. Write one way your daily life already reflects each one.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write 3–5 sentences describing a regular day in your life six months from now. Keep it grounded.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Find one behavior from this workbook that connects to that picture. Write one sentence linking them.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Read your six-months description slowly as if reading about someone you genuinely admire.

WHY IT WORKS

Connecting current behavior to a specific future self increases follow-through more than willpower alone.

REFLECTION

What's one thing you've started this month that the person in your six-month picture would recognize?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll look at what you're still carrying that doesn't fit that picture anymore.

DAY · 25 OF 30

What No Longer Fits

25
INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL Identify one habit thought or pattern you're ready to leave behind — honestly and without drama.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Write 5 things you've been doing thinking or holding onto that don't match who you're becoming.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Circle the one that's costing you the most. Write one sentence about why you've held onto it this long.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Write one small action that signals to yourself that you're putting it down. Do it today.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Delete one app unsubscribe from one email list or remove one object from your space. One only.

WHY IT WORKS

Deciding what to stop is as powerful as deciding what to start — and usually harder to do honestly.

REFLECTION

What would be different if you stopped doing that one thing for just one week?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW and what this month may have quietly shifted there.

DAY · 26 OF 30

Your People

26

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice which relationships give you energy and which ones quietly drain it — without judgment.

1 TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write the names of 3 people who make you feel most like yourself. First ones that come to mind.

2 TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Write the name of one relationship you've been neglecting that matters. Send one message today.

3 TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Write one way you want to show up differently in your relationships over the next 30 days.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Reply to one message you've been putting off. One sentence is enough to show you're there.

WHY IT WORKS

Social connection is a stronger driver of wellbeing than most habits — including most in this workbook.

REFLECTION

Which relationship would benefit most from you bringing more of what you've built this month?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW in honest grounded terms not aspirational ones.

DAY · 27 OF 30

Who You're Becoming

27

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL Put words to the version of yourself you've been moving toward this month.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Write 5 words that describe the person you've been trying to be over the last 27 days.

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Write 5 words that describe the person you were when you started on Day 1.

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Look at both lists. Write one sentence about what's genuinely different — even if the shift is subtle.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Pick one word from your Day 27 list that feels most true right now. Write it somewhere visible.

WHY IT WORKS

Identity-level thinking — I am someone who ___ — is more durable for lasting change than goal-setting.

REFLECTION

If the person you were on Day 1 could see you right now what do you think they'd notice first?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll make one real commitment for after this workbook ends.

DAY · 28 OF 30

Your One Commitment

28

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL Choose one thing to keep doing after Day 30 — specific enough to actually follow through on.

1. TASK ONE · 10 MIN
   Review what you've tried this month. What one habit or practice made the most real difference?

2. TASK TWO · 10 MIN
   Write your commitment: After Day 30 I will [specific behavior] at [specific time] on [specific days].

3. TASK THREE · 10 MIN
   Tell one person or write it somewhere permanent. A commitment only in your head is easier to drop.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Set a repeating phone reminder for your commitment. Label it with the reason it matters to you.

WHY IT WORKS

Specificity — naming the when where and how — is the strongest predictor of whether an intention holds.

REFLECTION

What would make it easy to keep this commitment? What would make it hard?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW you'll sketch a simple plan for staying in motion after Day 30 ends.

DAY · 29 OF 30

Life After Day 30

29

INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Build a simple low-pressure plan to stay in forward motion when the workbook structure is gone.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write your weekly rhythm for next month: which habits stay at what frequency and one check-in practice.

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Decide what you'll do when things get hard again. Write your own re-entry plan in one or two sentences.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Choose one resource practice or person to lean on over the next 30 days. Write it down clearly.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Block 10 minutes in your calendar 30 days from today. Label it: Month 2 check-in.

WHY IT WORKS

A pre-decided re-entry plan removes decision load when you're tired — making it far easier to return.

REFLECTION

What does staying in motion look like for you on a real average week — not a perfect one?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

Day 30 tomorrow. The last page. You'll close this the right way.

DAY · 30 OF 30

You Did It

30
INTEGRATION

TODAY'S GOAL

Close this chapter with honesty acknowledgment and a clear view of what you've actually built.

1

TASK ONE · 10 MIN

Write 1–2 sentences to your Day 1 self. What's the one thing you'd most want them to know right now?

2

TASK TWO · 10 MIN

Read your Setup Pages your Life Audit and your original intention. Write one thing that surprised you.

3

TASK THREE · 10 MIN

Choose your next step — one more focused month a longer practice or simply protecting what you've built.

QUICK WIN · 1–2 MIN

Put this workbook somewhere visible. Not a shelf. Somewhere it can remind you what you're capable of.

WHY IT WORKS

A deliberate closing ritual creates a clear ending — making it easier to begin the next chapter with intention.

REFLECTION

What do you know about yourself now that you didn't know on Day 1?

MOOD CHECK

GOOD OKAY HARD

TOMORROW

There's no Day 31. You carry this forward — at your pace on your terms one small step at a time.

ONE FACTOR THAT AFFECTED MY MOOD MOST

At the end of the month, look at the whole grid. Patterns will appear that you couldn't have predicted on Day 1.

TRACKER · 03

Health & body.

Rate each category each week from 1 (struggling) to 5 (solid). Track what's actually happening — not what should be.

	W1	W2	W3	W4
Sleep quality
Energy level
Movement / activity
Eating / nourishment
Water intake
Physical tension or pain

ONE SMALL HEALTH WIN THIS MONTH _____

ONE HABIT TO KEEP FOR MY BODY _____

Your body keeps a running tally even when you don't. This page just helps you see the data.

TRACKER · 04

Focus & productivity.

This isn't about output. It's about whether your attention went where you wanted it to.

	W1	W2	W3	W4
Felt focused (1–5)
Avoided distractions (1–5)
Got one important thing done
Phone use felt intentional

THE THING I'M MOST GLAD I GOT DONE _____

ONE ATTENTION HABIT TO CARRY FORWARD _____

A focused hour is worth a scattered day. You don't need more time — you need less interruption.

TRACKER · 05

Home & environment.

Track which areas you've touched and what's changed. Order doesn't have to be complete — it has to be present.

AREA	CLEARED	WEEK	STILL TO DO
Desk · workspace	○ Yes ○ No
Bedroom · sleep space	○ Yes ○ No
Kitchen counter	○ Yes ○ No
Bag · wallet · car	○ Yes ○ No
Digital · phone · email	○ Yes ○ No
Other _____	○ Yes ○ No

THE SPACE THAT MADE THE BIGGEST DIFFERENCE _____

ONE AREA TO WORK ON AFTER DAY 30 _____

Physical order measurably lowers cortisol. Your nervous system responds directly to what your eyes take in.

TRACKER · 06

Money & finances.

Light-touch. This isn't a budget tool — just a place to notice patterns.

	W1	W2	W3	W4
Felt in control of spending (1–5)
Had at least one unplanned purchase
Checked account balance
One money stress I'm carrying

ONE FINANCIAL HABIT I NOTICED _____

ONE THING TO DO DIFFERENTLY NEXT MONTH _____

Awareness is the prerequisite for change. You can't shift what you haven't seen.

TRACKER · 07

Relationships & connection.

Track the quality of your connections, not the quantity.

	W1	W2	W3	W4
Felt connected to someone (1–5)
Had one real conversation
Reached out to someone first
Felt lonely at some point

THE RELATIONSHIP I'M MOST GLAD I INVESTED IN _____

ONE PERSON TO BE MORE INTENTIONAL WITH _____

ONE THING I DID THAT MADE ME BETTER TO BE AROUND _____

Social connection is a stronger driver of wellbeing than most habits — including most of the ones in this workbook.

SECTION III

Bonuses

Three small libraries to keep going long after Day 30 — when life derails, when you want to deepen, when you want to begin again.

BONUS · 01

50 tiny habits.

Every habit on this list takes 5 minutes or less. Use them as inspiration, as replacements when your main habit breaks down, or as a menu when you're not sure what to do next.

BODY & HEALTH · 9 HABITS

01 Drink a full glass of water before you do anything else.

02 Take 5 slow, deliberate breaths. Exhale longer than you inhale.

03 Stretch for 2 minutes when you get out of bed — any movement counts.

04 Go to bed 15 minutes earlier than usual tonight.

05 Eat one piece of fruit or vegetable you wouldn't normally bother with.

06 Walk around the block once. One loop, no destination.

07 Close your eyes for 60 seconds in the middle of the day.

08 Open a window and get 2 minutes of fresh air.

09 Take any supplements or medications you've been skipping.

MIND & MOOD · 9 HABITS

01 Write 3 things that went okay today. Not great — just okay.

02 Read one page of a book you've been meaning to start.

03 Sit quietly for 2 minutes without a screen. Just sit.

04 Write down one worry on paper, then close the notebook.

05 Choose one word for how you want to feel today. Write it visibly.

06 Turn off all notifications for the next hour.

07 Spend 5 minutes outside — not exercising, just being outside.

08 Write one thing you're looking forward to, even if small.

09 Notice one beautiful or interesting thing nearby. Write it down.

50 tiny habits.

FOCUS & PRODUCTIVITY · 8 HABITS

01 Write your top 3 tasks for today on paper. Cross them off as you go.

02 Clear your phone home screen of everything you don't actually need.

03 Set a 25-minute timer and work on one thing only until it goes off.

04 Decline or defer one thing this week that isn't genuinely urgent.

05 Make one small decision you've been putting off for over a week.

06 Prepare your bag, clothes, or desk the night before.

07 Spend 5 minutes at end of day writing what you'll do first tomorrow.

08 Check email only at two set times today — not continuously.

HOME & ENVIRONMENT · 8 HABITS

01 Clear one surface completely. Put back only what belongs.

02 Make your bed within 10 minutes of getting up.

03 Do the dishes immediately after eating — don't let them sit.

04 Put 5 objects back where they actually belong.

05 Take out the trash or recycling before it overflows.

06 Wipe down one kitchen or bathroom counter with a cloth.

07 Put away clean laundry within 24 hours of washing it.

08 Spend 3 minutes tidying the space where you spend most of your time.

50 tiny habits.

MONEY & FINANCES · 7 HABITS

01 Check your bank balance. Just look at the number.

02 Cancel one subscription you haven't used in the last month.

03 Make a list before your next grocery shop and stick to it.

04 Unsubscribe from 3 promotional emails you never open.

05 Pack or prep your own lunch once this week instead of buying it.

06 Review one bill or recurring charge — confirm it's still worth it.

07 Write down one purchase from this week you didn't need.

RELATIONSHIPS & CONNECTION · 9 HABITS

01 Send a "thinking of you" message to someone you haven't contacted.

02 Reply to one message you've been putting off. One sentence is enough.

03 Put your phone away completely for one meal today.

04 Make eye contact and actually listen during your next conversation.

05 Say thank you to someone with one specific detail.

06 Call someone instead of texting them. Just once today.

07 Acknowledge one upcoming birthday or event for someone you care about.

08 Ask someone how they're really doing — and wait for the real answer.

09 Tell one person one specific thing you appreciate about them.

These aren't goals. They're repeatable actions you can drop into any day — good or hard.

BONUS · 02

7-day emergency reset.

For when life derails and you need a way back in.

This mini-reset is for the hard weeks — when work piles up, something goes wrong, or you just fall off completely. It's not a substitute for the full 30 days. It's a bridge back.

Seven days. One small thing each day. That's all.

> You don't have to start over. You only have to start.

Turn the page when you're ready.

Days 1—4 · Coming back.

01
DAY 1

Just Show Up

TASK Drink a full glass of water. Go to bed at a reasonable time tonight. Nothing else is required.

REFLECTION What happened? Write one honest sentence about why things derailed.

QUICK WIN Read this page. You've already started.

02
DAY 2

One Familiar Thing

TASK Do one habit from your 30-day workbook — any one. The one that felt easiest.

REFLECTION What does it feel like to do one small thing on a hard day?

QUICK WIN Set a reminder for the same time tomorrow.

03
DAY 3

Clear Something

TASK Spend 5 minutes clearing one small physical space — a surface, a bag, a drawer.

REFLECTION Did the space feel different after? What does that tell you?

QUICK WIN Wipe the surface down. That's the full task.

04
DAY 4

Empty Your Head

TASK Set a 5-minute timer and write everything in your head — worries, tasks, feelings. All of it.

REFLECTION Read what you wrote. Is there one thing you can actually do something about today?

QUICK WIN Cross off one item — by doing it or deciding it doesn't need your energy.

Days 5—7 · Coming home.

05
DAY 5

Move

TASK Walk outside for 10 minutes. No phone, no podcast.

REFLECTION How did your body feel before vs. after?

QUICK WIN Stand up and stretch for 60 seconds before the walk.

06
DAY 6

Name One Good Thing

TASK Write 3 things that are going okay right now. They can be small. They should be honest.

REFLECTION Why is it hard to notice what's okay when things are hard?

QUICK WIN Say one of the three things out loud.

07
DAY 7

Come Back

TASK Read your original Day 1 reflection from the main workbook. Then read your Week 1 checkpoint.

REFLECTION What do you notice about the gap between who you were on Day 1 and who you are now?

QUICK WIN Decide: go back to the main workbook, or run another 7-day emergency reset.

You made it through the hard part. Coming back is always the right call.

BONUS · 03

Your 90-day roadmap.

The workbook ends. Life doesn't. Here's a simple framework for staying in motion for the next two months — without needing a new program or a fresh start.

MONTH 02 · DEEPEN ONE THING

Pick the one habit from your 30 days that made the most difference. Your only job in Month 2 is to deepen it.

MY HABIT _____

○ Daily ○ Most days ○ Weekly

CHECK-IN DATE _____

MONTH 03 · ADD ONE MORE

Keep your Month 2 habit and add one new small behavior from the 50 Tiny Habits list.

NEW HABIT _____

WHY I CHOSE IT _____

CHECK-IN DATE _____

MONTH 02 FOCUS AREA — PICK ONE

- ○ Body & sleep — keep movement, improve sleep consistency
- ○ Environment — finish clearing the areas you started
- ○ Money — one financial habit, practiced consistently
- ○ Focus & productivity — one deep work block daily
- ○ Relationships — one intentional connection per week
- ○ Mind — daily 5-minute writing or reflection

You don't need to figure out the whole year. Just the next 90 days. Then the next. That's enough.

Your 90-day check-in.

Fill this in at Day 90 — about three months from when you started. Come back to it. Notice what's true that wasn't true before.

_____

WORD FOR THE NEXT 90

_____

WHEN TO COME BACK TO THIS WORKBOOK

- When you feel yourself going back to autopilot
- A new season of life starts — new job, new home, new chapter
- You want a reset after a hard stretch
- You want to see how far you've come since the last time

The workbook works best when used more than once. Your answers will be different. That's how you know you've moved.

A CLOSING NOTE

You did the thing.

Thirty days. You showed up, adjusted, came back, and kept going. That's not a small thing — that's the whole thing.

Whatever happens next, you now know what a re-entry looks like. You know what to do when things get hard. Come back. Start small. One thing. That's all it's ever taken.

Well done.
